PROJECTS

- C-Rex
01/2019
This is in the process of development. The cyber security application with interface experience is targeted.
- SharEx / IEEEEMadC
12/2018
It developed for IEEE Mobile Application Contest. The application they developed appeals to all student users. The application is unique for many reasons such as being unique in the market and easy to use.
- Bank/ATM Management System / Academic Project
11/2017
He prepared this project by using scenarios, models (Use case - Object - Dynamic) and he have Java programming languages for my Object Oriented Design and Programming course. He developed the interface with a java application that users can fulfill their basic function.
- SS / INGBANK HACKATHON 2017
11/2017
A running prototype Android application and web version were able to complete within 24 hours. The application they developed appeals to all student users. The application is unique for many reasons, such as being unique in the market and easy to use.
- Change for Climate (C4C) Project
09/2017
He participated in the simulation of global conferences such as the United Nations Climate Change Framework Convention (UNFCCC) and "World Climate" and "World Energy" developed by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) and Climate Interactive and Climate Interaction. The project has been successfully completed by participating in workshops on major topics such as global warming, carbon footprint, climate justice, low carbon economy and 2100 global temperature projections.
- Leonardo Da Vinci Project
03/2013 – 06/2013
The program aims to develop qualifications in vocational education systems and practices, to increase the knowledge, skills and competences of individuals and to encourage innovation through cooperation between countries.
